The Consideration of the Wilson Bill Postponed Until Tuesday.

THE DEBATE IN HOUSE AND SENATE. The Fitzsimmons Case and That of the

the republican caucus at the residence of Senator Edmunds last night, talk of adjournment was revived, and it is now said, if the programme agreed upon at the caucus can be car-ried out, it is possible for congress to adjourn by the 20th of September.

In fact, Mr. Ingalls predicts an adjournment on that date, for if the tariff bill, which is to be reported in ten days, should be discussed for a short time and then left on the calendar nutil December, there would be no trouble about a comparatively early adjournment.

The appropriation bills are in such shape that should congress now work upon them rap-

4dly they could be put through in less than a

But there is no sign of any unusual activity and, further, there is a desire among the demo-cratic senators to talk upon the tariff them-selves. The republicans having turned the senate into a mill to grind out campaign material by abusing the president, revamping the stale stories of alleged southern outrages, etc., it is proposed that the democrats say something about the republicans and their handling of the subject of customs duties. Senator Beck will probably open the discussion and he will be followed by Senator Vest and others. This will, of course, occupy many days.

There were only twenty-two senators present at the caucus last night. Most of the absent ones are those opposed to the senate bring-ing forth any tariff bill at all. Thus it will be seen that the differing republicans are not yet together. An adjournment by the tenth or enth of October is both possible and Representative Bynum left for Indiana to-day to participate in the campaign, which will open next week. He will speak on Monday night to a convention of laboring men at In-

Mr. Bynum says he will not return to Washington this session unless his presence is absolutely necessary.

THERE ARE MANY ABSENTEES.

Notwithstanding the call for the return of absences issued last Saturday, there is barely a quorum of members of the house in the city As many have been granted leave of absence since the call was made as have returned on that account. It is feared that tomorrow when the president's fisheries message comes up there will not be a quorum present. If this proves correct, more stringent measures will be taken to secure the presence of absentees, and if they no not return when orded by tele graph, deputy sergeant-at-arms will be sent out to arrest and bring them in.

A CHANGE IN THE PLEAS. The original design of calling up the fisheries matter in the house tomorrow and continuing it until disposed of has been changed. The conference report on the sundry civil bill is a most important one, and if discussion of it is continued without interruption it can probably be disposed of tomorrow. Then Monday is suspension day, and so, all things considered, it is deemed best to postpone the begining of so important a debate until Tuesday, by which time the track will have been cleared and the measure can go through without de-

The debate is likely to occupy several days republicans design making whatever campaign material is possible out of the matter and the democrats will see to it that a Roland is given

Mr. Phelps, of New Jersey, is expected to speak on the republican side and will probably voice the views of Mr. Blaine on the subject. He is at all times in intimate communication with the Maine leader, and the fisheries question is one that Mr. Blaine regards himself as being especially the master of.

The debate in the senate will also continue several days yet, and altogether the republicans in the house may be expected to continue to harp upon the fisheries question until the day of the Maine election so, if possible, to influence the vote in that state against the administration fisheries policy. SENATOR BROWN ON ADJOURNMENT.

Senator Brown said today he thought both parties would wear out by the first of October, and would then adjourn. He says it will be impossible to keep a quorum of members present after the passage of the appropriation bills, and congress will then have to adjourn, as no business can be transacted. He thinks the republicans are very anxious to adjourn now, and if the democrats made a proposition to that effect they would eagerly accept but they cannot themselves make the proposition on account of being pledged to bring in a tariff

THAT DUNWOODY POSTMASTERSHIP. When Judge Stewart received the petition from DeKalb county the other day, asking the removal of Postmaster Trimble, at Dunwoody, he immediately sent it to the second assistant postmaster-general, asking him to look into the matter. Judge Stewart, however, wrote that he knew nothing about the matter, and would leave it in the hands of the department When THE CONSTITUTION came today, with Mr. Trimble's interview, Judge Stewart im mediately went to the department to inquire into the matter. He was there notified that an inspector will be sent down at once to examine into the grave charges brought against Mr. Trimble in the petition. After examining the petition today Judge Stewart

"I find that the petition to appoint Mrs. Bear vers, and the petition to have the office placed in the hands of Mrs. Beavers, are in the same covering and appear as one, but under different captions. The one asking the appointment ent captions. The one asking the appointment of Mrs, Beavers is signed by about 240 names and the other contains about 30 or 40."

Judge Stewart said he would not have anything to do with the matter, but leave it entirely in the hands of the department.

THE FITZSHMONS DEFICIENCY.

Senators Brown and Colquitt wrote to the attorney general today, enclosing the papers of Commissioner Haight asking him to look into the matter of the $14,000 due the deputies of ex-Marshal Fitzsimmons, and if found correct, to lask the committee on appropriations that it be inserted in the appropriation bill.

JUDGE STEWART ON BAGGING AND TIES.

Judge Stewart said today in speeking of the bagging trust: "I see our papers are discussing that the farmer gots pay for bagging and ties. When the tariff discussion was in progress in the house both sides agreed or admitted that the price of cotton was fixed in Liverpool, and that nothing was allowed for bagging or ties; that they were a loss to the farmer?

nothing was allowed for bagging or ties; however a loss to the farmer." ten P. Caldwell, of Georgia, has been sted to a $1,600 clerkship in the interior tment.

THE SENATE TARIFF BILL. The Finance Committee Will Give Hearings to Those Interested. Washington, August 31.—Senator Allison, chairman of the sub-committee on finance, having in charge the preparation of the tariff bill, gives notice in accordance with the understanding reached at last night's conference that parties who wish a hearing before the committee must make their appearance within ten days.

the committee must make their appearance within ten days.

The hearings by the committee began May 26, 1888, and have been continued almost every day since. Several hundred interested parties have been heard, including many delegations of workingmen, and information, the senator says, has been sought from every possible source. The hearings have been conducted practic

The evidence has been stenographically re-ported and printed from day to day for infor-mation of any who cared to examine it. The next ten days is expected to be a busy time, since in addition to hearings, the sub-commit-tee has to complete its elaborate report on the bill.

The Matter of Retaliation and the Fortifications Bill Discussed.

Washington, August 31.—In the senate the house joint resolution to extend until the 15th of September next the joint resolution of the 31st July to provide temporarily for expenses of the government, was reported and passed. The resolution offered yesterday by Mr. Cullom calling on the secretary of the treasury for information as to whether transit in bond, without payment of duty of goods, wares and lom calling on the secretary of the treasury for information as to whether transit in bond, without payment of duty of goods, wares and merchandise to and from Canada has been has been permitted since the lat of July, 1885. When article 29 of the treaty of Washington, and section 3 of the first of March, 1873, are said to have ceased to be in force, and if so to what extent and by what authority of law, was taken up for consideration.

Mr. Goorge argued against the resolution as unnecessary and reviewed the legislation on the subject of transit of goods in bond. He held that under the existing law the president had a right to prevent the transfer of goods under the duplex system, first as import and then as export of import—from Canada to foreign countries; but that the president could not prevent the other operation—that is, the transfer of foreign goods coming into the United States and destined for Canada.

Mr. Cullom said he had not examined the statutes critically on the subject, and would let the resolution accordingly went over without action.

THE FORTIFICATIONS BILL.

THE FORTIFICATIONS BILL.

The senate resumed consideration of the fortifications bill, began yesterday, the question being on the adoption of an amendment, section 6, authorizing contracts for cast iron, breech-loading mortars—not less than fifty nor more than one hundred—at a cost not exceeding 56 500 acch and of single charge breeching 86,500 each, and of single charge breech loading steel guns—not exceeding fifty ten-inch and fifty twelve-inch—at a reasonable price; appropriating $500,000 for investigations, experiments and tests; providing that contracts shall not involve an aggregate expenditure of over six millions, or an annual expenditure of over two millions; requiring all guns, etc., to be of American production and to be furnished by citizens of the United States; and appropriating five thousand dollars for the expenses of the board.

After discussion, the amendment was adopted. Mr. Hawley offered an amendment providing that nothing in the act shall be construed to alter or repeal the existing provisions of law prescribing the duties and powers of any department of the army. After some delay, the presence of a quorum was procured and Mr. Hawley's amendment was rejected, and the bill was passed. Conference on the disagreed-to points was ordered, and Messrs. Dawes, Plumb and Gorman were appointed conferees on the part of the senate.

The House Devotes its Time to the Consideration of Some of Them.

Washington, August 31.—At its session today the house proceeded to the consideration of the conference report on the sundry civil appropriation bill. The report was agreed to.

The house then proceeded to consider the amendments upon which an agreement has not been reached in conference. The amendment relative to a congressional library building provoked a good deal of heated discussion. The house insisted on its disagreement to the senate amendment.

Pending action on other amendments on which no agreement had been reached, the house, at 5 o'clock, took a recess until 8 o'clock, the evening session to be for the consideration of private pension bills.

THE EVENING SESSION.

WASHINGTON, August 31.—At the evening session, Mr. Bingham, of Pennsylvania, called up the bill granting a pension of thirty-five hundred dollars per annum to the widow of the late General Philip Sheridan.

Mr. Cheadle, of Indiana, objected to the present consideration of the bill, and stated that he would raise the point of no quorum; but that he was willing that it should be made a special order for some day when there should be a full house.

Mr. Bingham then asked that the bill be made a special order for tomorrow, but to this

Mr. Kilgore also raised the point of no quorum again. The next bill called up was by Mr. Caruth, of Kentucky. Mr. Caruth said that the gentleman's action showed that he was not inspired by that proper metive which ought to inspire a member of this body. He would withdraw the bill and let the responsibility for its defeat rest where it belonged.

Mr. Kilgore replied that when he desired the gentleman to lecture him he would invite him to do so. He was responsible to his constituents for his action, and if any member wanted to make a personal matter of it, he could do so whenever he saw proper.

Twenty-seven private pension bills were passed, and the house adjourned until tomorrow.

"What has led you to resign?" asked a reporter of Litchman this afternoon.

"I desired to be free to act as a citizen in this campaign. In my letter to Chairman Quay, I simply uttered my own individual convictions. No one was responsible for them but myself. NOW THEY'RE STATE ISSUES.

Jingo Jim Acknowledges that Trusts are Not Entirely Private Affairs.

Doven, Maine, August 31.—James G. Blaine addressed a large open air meeting at Foxcroft this afternoon.

In opening he proceeded at once to a consideration of trusts, charging that they flourished to a greater extent under the free trade policy of England than under the protection policy of the United States. He cated authorities for his statement.

Of American trusts, he said, there is not one among them all that derives its being, owes its among them all that derives its being, owes its organization, or came up under the patronage of the national government. Every one derives wintever sanction of law it possesses from state government—generally one state, but sometimes several. The president, therefore, certainly should have known, when he arraigned trusts in his message to congress. fore, certainly should have known, when he arraigned trusts in his message to congress, that congress could not dissolve them when they charters were from state legislatures or their organization under state legislatures or their organization under state law. It had been confessed by the democratic house ways and means committee, by Chairman Mills and every man that stood as an advocate of free trade, that trusts had ne possibly legal connection with the tariff. The president's charge that trusts had their origin in the protective tariff has not a foot of ground to stand upon, and was contradicted in every line of free trade experience the speaker had quoted from England, and now, when all chance to investigate the alleged bribery which chance to investigate the alleged bribery which certain

There was an opportunity to get the true inwardness of trusts, but they shrank from the investigation of bribery and both outside and inside the administration, they we'le determined to have no such investigation.

Trusts have no place in a national campaign. They are state issues and the republicans of Maine, at least, can be depended upon to look after those in their own state.

RALEIGH, N. C., August 31.—[Special.]—A bale of cotton was received at Wilmington yesterday packed in bagging manufactured from pine straw fibre, made near this city.

It is not new known that this pine bagging will meet the requirements of the underwriters and commercial organizations, being a perfect substitute, but it has all the appearance of and is a first-rate bagging. It is nearly fire-proof, strong and durable and apparently is preferable to jute bagging. The bale was compressed as an experiment, and the pine straw bagging again held its own with the jute bagging, and in this respect has another quality to commend it. It looks very much like the problem that now so greatly disturbs the southern farmers will be solved by this substitute, and the result of the experiment will be watched with keen interest. It Stands the Test.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., August 31.—[Special.]—George W. Cox was hanged at San Andre Ladry for the murder of his son-in-law, Henry C. Cook, last November.

The execution took place in the jaff yard at 10:30 o clock in the presence of a few spectators. Cox awaited his approaching fate with indifference. When told by a minister that it was time for him to turn to the Savior, he replied: "Yes, I'll turn to the devil."

When arked by Sheriff Thorne what time he preferred the execution to take place, Cox said: "At any time between 10 and 12. It don't make a d—n bit of difference to me."

Cox ascended the scaffold firmly, and when the rope was adjusted about his neck he said laughingly: "Don't smother me."

She was in the yard, while her daughter was occupied in the house.

While standing alone a negro slipped up behind her, choked her insensible, and after beating her, dragged her behind the garden fence, where she was found in a precarious condition. He is a dangerous character, and if he is caught and identified the people have determined to lynch him. He robbed a house near Whiteville last week and was slightly wounded by a pistol shot while a constable, Matt Tedder, was attempting to arrest him for the robbery.

OWENSBORO, Ky., August 31.—William Murphy, one of the best known farmers of the county, was shot and killed in cold blood by James Hardesty, the principal merchant of West Louisville, ten miles from here yesterday afternoon. Washington, August 31.—Senator Harris, from the committee on epidemic diseases, reported today a substitute for the bill prepared by the treasury department to prevent the introduction of contagious diseases from one state to another.

It authorizes the president to cause the secretary of treasury to make and promulgate such rules and regulations as, in his judgment, may be necessary to prevent the spread from one state or territory to another of choleraty vellow fever, smallpox or plaque, and to finploy as many inspectors as may be necessary to carry the regulations into effect. It is made a misdemeanor, punishable by fine and imprisonment, to violate the regulations.

Accompanying the bill is a letter from Secretary Fairchild, saving:

It has long been evident to the department having charge of the matter that while the maritime quaranthe is fully up to the present requirements, the general law making definite provisions for the funning of regulations for conduct of ogerations to prevent the spread of epidemic diseases from one state to another, was wholly leaking in vital force and statutory sanction. An appropriation act originally passed to tide over the public exigency then existing, has been continued down to this time, and many instances have arisen showing inadequicy of the power to frame satisfactory regulations.

In regard to the proposed penalty, it is the opinadquiey of the power or many cassistions.

In regard to the proposed penalty, it is the opinion of the department that no penalty can be too severe for such violation of the regulations as would introduce virulent epidemic from one locality to anotier, and experience in the conduct of services has shown conclusively the difficulty of executing, by federal machinery, local ordinances of a state or municipality.

would require about 45,000,000 yards of cotton bagging, and it was expected that the total output of all the mills now running up to the time when they stop in November next would be over 50,000,000 yards.
Gratz said that the productive capacity of cotton bagging mills in the west was 25 per cent greater than the mills in the east. The employes in the west were mostly of Bohemian parentage and were paid slightly more than those in the east.

The witness said that there were considerable quantities of cotton bagging coming to this country, but he did not think the foreign mills would be able to bring sufficient cotton bagging to this country this year to prevent the sale of that held here. Contractors abroad and probably a dozen or more outside of the trust closed down previous and since the agreement was consummated. The first set price of cotton bagging was made in New York by the trust about the middle of July at a proposition of the witness. Nine and a half cents was then fixed as the price.

There were twenty-four jute mills in Indiana having 8,337 looms on January 1st, 1887, which could produce ten or fifteen times the amount of cotton bagging needed for the cotton crop of the United States.

On January 1st last the productive capacity of Warren, Jones & Gratz, in conjunction with the several firms which they represented, was two-thirds of all the productive capacity of the south, but they actually produced seveneights of all that was produced in the south. Since the price was fixed in July members of the trust had advanced the price of bagging three cents per yard. The present price of cotton bagging in this country is three cents higher than that at which foreign manufactured production can be brought here, inclusive of freight charges. This, he said, was due to the fact that the production of material in this country was confined to a few firms. Probably sixty per cent of this year's cotton bagging product was in the hands of retail dealers and the other forty per cent in the hands of manufacturers. If the duty on cotton bagging and jute were not changed, the withands of manufacturers. "The matter of taking some action toward bringing out candidates for the legislature in this county was fully discussed. It was finally decided to call a meeting of the republican voters of the county at Odd Fellows' hall at 8 o'clock next Wednesday night to decide the matter of nominating a legislative ticket. It is earnestly hoped that those who are interested in this matter will turn out. There is no use waiting on any particular man or men to do that which they seem fully determined not to do. The interest of the people and party lies in complete and thorough organization, and if the county executive committee will not do it, some one executive committee will not do it, some one else must. That is the long and the short of the whole matter, and threats about cutting off people's heads and showing some one else up will not deter any one from doing what they conceive to be a duty."

The action of the young men's club does not seem altogether to please Captain Frank Disroon, chairman of the republiche executive committee of the county, who does not recognize the right of the young men's club to nominate a ticket and expect the vote of the party, unless the said nomination occurs under a call from the official heads of the party in the county. Therefore he has issued the county. Therefore he has issued notice for the republican executive committee to meet on Tuesday night to decide whether or not to nominate a ticket.

Bibb republicans have often in the past had fun amongst themselves, and perhaps some may be forthcoming in the present campaign. If the young men's club nominate a ticket, some of the old-line republicans state that it will receive the support of the party.

Let the circus begin.

CANE PRESENTATION.

The Y. M. C. A. Rooms the Scene of Two Interesting Incidents.

Macon, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—Two very pleasant incidents occurred tonight at 8 o'clock at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian association, thanks to the liberality of Mr. George T. Beeland, Macon's well known jeweler, and who is also an active member of the association. Mr. Beeland presented a handsome walking cane to the Outing club of teresting Incidents.

the association, to do with as they saw fit, and the club decided to present the cane to Mr. Charlie Juhan, the master of the track.

Accordingly, the hares and bounds and their friends assembled at the rooms of the association at 8 o'clock, and the presentation to Mr. Juhan occurred. This compliment is tendered Mr. Juhan because of his kindly interest in a sport which, during the season, produced much healthful enjoyment.

Also, Mr. Beeland presented a beautiful cane to Secretary W. A. Wynne, of the association. Why this presentation is made him at this particular time is not generally known, but it would not require any great amount of guessing to answer the question. Hereafter,

A Kick Which May Not Result in Good to Macon Dealers. Macon Dealers.

Macon, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—As a matter of interest to Macon liquor merchants, the following is clipped from the Americus Recorder for publication in This Constitution's columns, where it can be seen by every dealer in Macon. Says the Republican:

"The retail whisky merchants of Americus sprung a subject yesterday that is liable to do some one damage. They complain that whisky drummers from Macon and other places, but more especially from Macon, come into Americus and self to the trade here, and then go out on the road and receive orders for whisky to

It is understood that the contract for build-

The company has recently completed the following bridges for the Central's system: Draw and fixed span, over the Columbia river, on the Blakely extension; five span, across the Chattahocchee, at Columbus; one span over Walnut creek, at Macon; one span over Coukee creek, on the Southwestern division. The bridge over the Ocmulgee will be erected some time this fall and will be quite an improvement on the present structure.

Macon's Population. Macon, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—The new city directory, compiled by A. E. Sholes, is now being circulated. It is said to be the most complete work of the kind Macon has wer had. The volume contains over one housand white names more than ever appeared in any previous directory. It contains 423 names—5,932 white and 3,491 colored. The white and black names appear together: n all former directories these have been sepain all former directories close and all rated.

The present population of the city and immediate suburbs is 33,737, divided as follows: 19,773 white, 13,964 colored.

A remarkable coincidence is observed in the new directory. The first name is that of Professor D. Q. Abbott, assistant superintendent of Bibb county public schools, and the last name is that of Professor B. M. Zettler, superintendent of the public schools.

ON RAIL AND CROSSTIES

What the Railroads Are Doing and Intend to do.

Travelers Should Procure Health Certificates - The Georgia Pacific All Right Again - Matters of Interest.

travel without delay or inconvenience. The rigid quarantine system now in opera-tion at Chattanooga, Birmingham, Au gusta, Montgomery, and in fact gusta, Montgomery, and in fact all southern points, makes it absolutely neces-sary that travelers have a clear bill of health if they intend to take a railroad journey in any direction. In fact several of the roads have issued orders to their agents not to sell tickets to passengers who are not provided with a certificate.

This may be regarded as a hardship by travelers, but it will be better to secure the necessary certificate here in Atlanta than to experience certain delay at other less favored

The Latest Sensation. Ever since the day that the Central Railroad company opened its Columbus and Western division to Birmingham the possibilities of its connections at that point have been the subject of much cossin among railroad, more and, the of much gossip among railroad men and the newspapers have occasionally had a word to say. But the matter has been revived with a greater appearance of foundation than hereto-fore. The latest combination proposed for the Central system via Columbus and Western extension that the officials of the two roads are said to have arranged for a meeting in New York on September 15th gives a slight grip to this rumor, and the result of their meeting will be watched with interest. The interest of the two roads are said to be in line with an alliance or consolidation, and if it is effected it would make one of the most powerful lines in the whole country. This is a possibility worth considering and would make a grand change all round in the railroad calculations for 1889.

all round in the railroad calculations for 1889.

Rumored Resignation.

There was a rumor among the railroad agents yesterday to the effect that Major A. J. Orme, reneral agent of the Atlanta and West Foint road, had teadered his resignation, and a Constitution teacher as the resignation, and a Constitution to porter asked him for a statement in regard to the matter. Major Orme said:

"I prefer to say nothing about it, as I think it will be better to wait for the official aunouncement by the general manager of the road, which I presume will be issued at his pleasure in due course of time, and then you will get it correctly."

Should Major Orme retire from his present rosition with the Atlanta and West Point, it will remove from local railroad circles one of the best known and most highly respected gentlemen in the business. Speaking of his resignation last night a friend of Major Orme's said to a reporter: "I believe that he has more friends than any man in the natiroad business in the city, and if a vote was taken on popularity, he would receive a big majority. I have known him intimately for a number of years, and have always found him a clever and obliging gentleman, as well as a capable railroad man."

Major Orme is really one of the landmarks in obliging gentleman, as well as a capable raineau man."

Major Orme is really one of the landmarks in the railroad history of Atlanta. For thirty-three years of the thirty-eight years that he has lived in this city he has been connected with the road he represents today and is the only employe that has served that length of time, in any capacity, on the Atlanta and West Point,

When he first came to Atlanta it gave little promise of its present importance as a railroad center, and was virtually out in the woods. And through all these years of faithful and capable service, Major Orme has watched and assisted the growth and development of his road, which today is one of the best equipped and most polular in the south.

It will be gratifying news to the many friends of Major Orme that he contemplates no change of residence, and that Atlanta will still have the benefit of his enterprise and business capacity.

Of course rumor is busy with guesses as to the probable changes in the event Major Orme resigns, but the official announcements will settle it.

A Natural Result.

The Chattanooga Times has a dispatch from Atlanta which would be sensational were it not for the fact that it is based on a natural result of the Atlanta which would be sensational were it not for the first that it is based on a natural result of the present yellow iever epidemic in Florida. The dispatch mentions the taking off of two train crews on the East Tennessee as though it was an exceptional case, but it is not. The Construction mentioned several days ago that the passe ager and freight business of all roads running into souther in Georgia, or roads having connections with such lines, was being seriously affected by the epidemic in Florida. This is but natural, as the pread of the disease and the strict quarantine regulations have virtually paralyzed the business which has its initial point at infected places. The Savannah, Florida and Western, the Brunswick and Western, the Central, and, in fact, all southern roads are beginning to feel the effects of this loss of business and their train service has been reduced to correspond with the demands for transportation. This is of course to be regreated, not alone on account of the loss of revenue to the roads, but in the enforced suspension of several of their employes. The effect of the epidemic is thus made far-reaching, effecting every line with an interest in southern business, and it is feared the end is not yet.

Mr. J. A. Droege has been appointed master.

Drocge has been employed by this road and has earned his promotion by faithful service. He suc-ceds Mr. C. R. Nagle, who was one of the most popular employes of the East Tennessee.

The East Tennessee is operating a division ight miles in length, and this is probably the nortest one in the country. It is one of the results the fever epidemic, and is likely to continue in of the fever epidemic, and is likely to continue in operation for some time. On account of the quarantine regulations at Brunswick, this road is compelled to keep a crew of train men at Sterling, who run only between that point and Brunswick. This makes a rather light day's work, and gives the train men an opportunity to enjoy themselves.

Excursion Rates.

Reunion of the Eleventh Georgia regiment at Atlanta, September I. Prug association, at Saratoga, N. Y. September II. Annual meeting of the Army of Tennessee, at Toledo, O., September 5 to 6. Eberneact Baptist association, at McDonough, September 6 to 11.

Changes in Schedule. at 8:30.

The train heretofore arriving from the north at 7:10 p. m., will arrive at 11:35 and leave for the south at 11:45 p. m., instead of 7:25 p. m.

This train, the "canon ball" through express, leaves Chattanooga at 5:40 p. m., and arrives at Jacksonville at 12 o'clock noon the next day.

They Are Indignant.

The curzens of Chattanooga, judging from interviews printed in the Times, are very indignant with A J. Wisdom. This gentleman filed a bill of injunction to restrain the officials of that city from paying its subscription of $100,000 to the Chatta paying its subscription of $100,000 to the Chatta nooza, Rome and Columbus, and the public sentiment is evidently very much against him. It is argued that the subscription was made with the understanding that the read was to perform a certain amount of work in a given time. Their agreement was carried out, and the debt is regarded as one of honor by the best people of Chattaneoga. There is no doubt that the subscription will be paid.

Still Booming.

There have been several transfers of Georgla Improvement company stock during the past week, at advanced prices, and the Atlanta and Florida people argue that this is a hopeful sign of public confidence in their road and its future. The town sites along this road are being boomed in a quiet way, and they offer some good opportunities for investment.

The state railroad commissioners have issued made 24.0 c pounds.

C reular No. I 5 announces that upon application of the Chattanoga. Rome and Columbus their passenger tariff has been reduced from four to three cents per mile.

Georgia Southern and Florida Railroad company and grams the Central a release from the operations of circular No. 119 until the ist of October. Circular No. 125 is devoted to the lumber tariff and allows 24,000 pounds to the carload. Moving Headquarters.

The Western and Atlantic road will move The Western and Atlantic road will move its Florida refugee headquarters four or five doors below the present location, to the building known as the Porter house. Rooms have been comfortably fitted up in this building and the refugees will always find the latch string on the outside. The building at present used by the Western and Atlantic for this purpose, has been leased by the Mann Boudoir Car company, and they will make this their headquarters. Mr. J. M. McAllhist, auditor of the railroad clearing house, will leave his tower in the union depot and fit up an office in this building.

The Suwanee River Road.

Mr. C. S. Beerbower, general passenger and ticket agent of the Suwanee River railroad, is in the city direct from Jacksonville. This road is not as long as many others, its greatest length being 1734 miles, but Mr. Beerbower says it gets there just the same. It runs from Ellawood to Hudson-on-the-Suwanee, via Flayler, and connects at Hudson with a steamer for Cedar Keys. The road was opened for business lest April and is still under one management. In addition to his duties on the Suwanee River road Mr. Beerbower sells tickets for the Florida Raflway and Navigation company. He is a hustler.

Hiding on a Flat Car.

An accident happened to a construction train The Suwanee River Road.

Riding on a Flat Car.

An accident happened to a construction train on the Marietta and North Georgia Thursday at Nelson station, several cars being deralled and the track blockaded. The south bound passenger arrived a few minutes after the accident and could proceed no further. Superintendent J. B. Glover was on the passenger train, however, and he was equal to the emergency. He cut a flat car loose from the wrecked train and told the passengers, thirty-one in all, to get on board. They accepted the situation and the flat car and rode sixteen miles in this car. Then a box car was pressed into service and a change was made, the passengers going into Marietta as happy as though they occupied a special Pullman

The Order Modified.

The sweeping order made by the mayor of

The sweeping order made by the mayor o The sweeping order made by the mayor of Birmingham has been considerably modified, and the Georgia Pacific trains will experience no delay. The original order, published in yesterday's Constitution, would have been a crusher for that road, and would have nearly doubled its operating expenses while in force. But it was a hasty conclusion, and the present status of affairs will enable passengers via the Georgia Pacific to make the usual time. Passengers should not neglect to procure health certificates, as agents of the Georgia Pacific have been instructed to sell no tlekets to Birmingham to anyone without them.

Railroad Rumor.

The New York Bulletin says: "The gossips The New York Bulletin says: "The gossips are busy concerning Louisville, New Albany and Chicago. The report was recently denied that the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton company had secured the property; but Boston advices stated rather positively that insiders in Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis and Chicago had purchased controling interests in the L. N. A. & C's stock, and that the 'Big Four' would absorb the road." The fact that President Ingalls, on Saturday last, quite unexpectedly left Louisville for New York, gives color to the report.

The Belt Line Road.

The Belt Line Road. At the last meeting of the special council committee appointed to consult with the railroad men in regard to the Woodward ordinance, Jacob Haas remarked that he had estimates that led him to believe that a ball, line, refixed, could be built men in regard to the Woodward ordinance, Jacob Haas remarked that he had estimates that led him to believe that a belt line radicod could be built for $300,000. The belt line road was suggested as a possible means of solving the switching problem and the only objection so far urged against it by the railroad men was the matter of cost. Major Belknap, general manager of the Central, was disposed to criticize Mr. Haas's estimate as far too low, and the matter was dropped after a very brief discussion. But Mr. Heas was! evidently well informed when he made his statement as to the cost of the road, and yesterday remarked that he might build it after all. In explanation of this, Mr. Haas said:

"I learned, through a friend, that Manager Belknap intimated that he might give me a contract to build a belt road, if I would agree to do it for $300,000. Now, the estimates I have obtained guarantees that a belt line can be built for $220,000. I added $80,000 for good measure when I made the remark to Manager Belknap, and I am ready to accept that contract as soon as offered."

A Low Rate.

A Low Rate.

The New York Sun say: Judge T. M. Cooley, chairman of the interstate commerce commission, is busy with the general passenger agents of the trunk lines, considering the difficulties arising over the transportation of immigrants. It seems likely that a conference of representatives will be held in a few days, and that matters will be dainstel by arbitration. It is said that Judge Cooley was particularly anxious to know just how cheaply the roads could carry passengers, and one of the agents almitted that his road could afford to carry immigrants to Chicago for St.

Paralyzing Engineers.

Paralyzing Engineers. An exchange says fast trains are playing the mischief with engineers. Almost daily one of these knights of the lever suffers from a paralytic stroke. The rapid time puts every engineer on such a strain that it is only a question of a few months until the nervous system collapses. There is said to be a train running from St. Paul to Stillwater, on the Omaha, that is called the hospital train; for every man who runs with it has either had a stroke of paralysis or has been injured in some way or another.

Brief Mention.

The freight war of the Texas lines against the Queen and Crescent system was ended yesterday, both the New Orleans and Texas Pacific and the Southern Pacific having decided to take the Cincinnati business offered by the Queen and Cres-

The Wabash is paying no attention to the taking off of the fast trains between Chicago and Kansas City, which will likely lead to trouble. Car-works officials are a little cautious about making contracts just now, owing to the recent advance in the price of iron and a prospective further advance.

The Pennsylvania company, in their yards at Jersey City, have switches operated by means of a twelve-lever, non-interlocking machine, which enable one switchman, or leverman, to control thirteen, spread over a distance of 1,140 feet.

The East Tennessee has offered to run through trains north, on special days selected by Surgeon General Hamilton, making no stops at operating points. R. D. Mann, who wandered away on a vaca-ion trip a few days ago, is said to be at Tate iorlings.

The roads are all complaining of dull John H. Palmer, of the Chicago, Burling-on and Quincy, went to New Orleans yesterday.

Clyde Bostick, passenger agent of the Central, is in Savannah. Traveling Passenger Agent Rogers, of the Kansas City, Memphis and Dirmingham, arrived in the city last night.

Fighting the Pullman. RALEIGH, N. C., August 31.—[Special.]-tate Treasurer Bain has levied on a Pullman sleep ing car for license tax due, the payment of which is resisted.

Some years ago the legislature imposed a specific tax npon such cars of $500 per annum. Last year there was some resistance to the payment of this tax; this year the roads counsel positively refuse to pay it, basing such refusal upon the claim that the interstate commerce law exempts the Pullman company from liability to such tax. Treasurer hain therefore had a sheriff to seize the car "saluda," which runs between two points in this state.

state.

It is confessedly a test case, and by agreement will go to the United States supreme court. The car has been released upon a guarantee by Superintendent Tennant, of the Pullman company, that it will not be taken out of North Carolina until the case is decided.

The Nut Grass Worm. It is said that there will be on exhibition at the state fair to be held in Macon in October some specimens of the eggs of a worm that has been recently imported into Louislana from the West Indies for the purpose of destroying the coco or nut grass. The experiments with this worm have been made in Madison parish, Louisiana, on the plantation of Mr. F. L. Maxwell. This plantation is largely covered with coco grass, which, as many Georgia farmers know, is a pest that is difficult to deal with. Hearing that this worm had destroyed large tracts of the nut rass in the West Indies, Mr. Maxwell imported some of the eggs. These eggs were forwarded through the mails on blades of grass covered with damp moss. Most of the eggs were spoiled in transit, but a few of them hatched, and Mr. Maxwell placed the worms in a nut grass patch. At the end of a week no signs of the worms were seen, and it was concluded that the experiment had proved to be a failure.

But one day Mr. Maxwell noticed that a number of the nut grass plants had begun to wither. Several weeks after this he observed on the under side of the grass blades many numbers of eggs, the result of the development of the worms. The first eggs arrived about the middle of May, and there have been five crops of worms. It is estimated that each moth will lay a million eggs, and at this rate a few crops of worms will cover a comparatively large area. On Mr. Maxwell's plantation they have destroyed about ten acres of nut grass since the middle of May, and are still vigorously at work. When the worm issues from the egg it makes its way down the blade of grass, eating as it goes, enters the ground, follows the root until it reaches the nut and bores its way in, thus destroying the vitality of the grass.

Naturally, Mr. Maxwell is very enthusiastic over his success in destroying the pestiferous nut grass, and he desires to distribute the eggs over the south wherever the grass has secured a foothold. This would be a very good thing, if the farmers could be sure that the activity of this remarkable worm would cease with the destruction of the nut grass; but what will be the history of the worm after the nut grass has disappeared? This may prove to be a very important question in the future, for it is possible, though we hope it is not probable, that the worm may prove to be a worse pest than the nut grass itself, which is bad

The English sparrow experiment is a case in point, though we are bound to say that the worms are more valuable than the sparrow. The worms were imported to kill nut grass, and they have surpassed all anticipation. The sparrow was imported to kill insects, but insects are about the only things it doesn't attack. It may be that the West Indian worm, after destroying the nut grass, may turn its attention to other vegetation, but it is to be hoped that after it has served its purpose in the nut grass patches it will disappear.

THE reports from the presidential fishing grounds in Virginia show that Grover understands this fisheries business in all its different phases.

It is rumored that six clerks in the pen sion department have been detailed to prepare an explanation and a defense of President Cleveland's pension vetoes. We do not believe it. This is the republican and not the democratic way. President Cleveland's pension vetoes need no defense before the honest people of this country, and if they did there is no reason why clerks in the departments should be detailed to prepare it.

It is very evident from South [ Carolina dispatches that the state is afflicted with the presence of small government officers whose conduct should be investigated.

The Bad Effects of a Scare.

Undoubtedly Birmingham and the state of Mississippi have the right to quarantine against all the rest of the world when they think such a course necessary. Mississippi has actually done this-she has quarantined against the entire human race beyond her borders, and Birmingham has done the next thing to it by raising an impassable barrier between herself and Atlanta.

This is going to extremes with a vengeance. Mississippi views with equal suspicion the through passenger from Canada and the returning tourist from Floridaboth must have proper health certificates before they can cross the state line. Birmingham is just as unreasonable—she picks out the healthiest city in the south to be placed under the ban of her quarantine regulations.

So far as Atlanta is concerned, it is all right. It is known to all the world that no case of yellow fever ever originated here. Some years ago refugees with the disease came here from Jacksonville, Savannah, Birmingham, Memphis, and other places, and died, but the plague did not spread, and did not claim a single victim outside of the refugees who were stricken before they entered our gates. With such a record it would strike most people that it is a poor return for what Atlanta has done for the cities and localities benefitted by her kindness and hospitality to bar her out when she still looms up as a safe and secure shelter for the afflicted. In the light of our past history it may be also said that the few among us who are disposed to criticise the liberal action of the authorities in keeping our gates wide open show themselves either strangely ignorant or ridiculously timid.

But the serious part of the whole business is the fact that a big scare is as bad and sometimes worse than a real epidemic. The whole world is now advised that Mississippi and Birmingham considers themselves in Imminent danger. The actual presence of the yellow fever there with a daily record of the number of cases would not produce such an unfavorable impression as does this | young man. He will start at the bottom of surd quarantine regulations directed against the north pole, and other localities equally exempt from yellow fever, must necessarily prejudice the public mind against the places adopting such extraordinary precau-

The thought will occur to many that it would have been a good thing for some Atlanta people if Birmingham had quarantined against us a year or so ago-it would at least have saved them some unlucky investments in Birmingham real estate While our sister city is in the mood it might be a good idea for her to quarantine against Cartersville, and in fact against all the healthy and flourishing towns of north Georgia. They are all making such rapid progress that their Alabama competitor doubtless feels disposed to give them a whack whenever the opportunity offers, and the cheapest and easiest way of doing it is to proclaim them in a quarantine announce-

It is needless to say that Atlanta will adhere to her old policy. She has found it safe in the past, and she has no fears for the future. It has been demonstrated that yellow fever cannot live and spread here, and we can afford to welcome the refugees from other less favored places. If a vellow fever patient should happen to stop in our city the fact will not be concealed, but will be promptly published. This was our course during former epidemics, and it is the best course. It produced no scare then, and it would produce none now. All this may make some of our neighbors in the yellow fever belt dissatisfied, but the fact is, Atlanta is notoriously healthy, and we cannot help it. We have to take our ozone and mountain breezes along with a lot of other things that have been with us from the beginning. And we are very thankful that we are so favorably situated. It is a blessed thing not only to escape an epidemic, but to escape the scare that goes before it. Atlanta can afford at a time like this to be liberal and humane, with all the greater satisfaction, because she has every reason to believe that such a line of conduct is Christian-like, wise and absolutely safe.

THE colored ku-klux of Texas appear to be getting in their work on negroes who don't agree with them. What will Brother Blaine say to this?

THE republican Bull of the Woods will have to be dehorned, or he will destroy his dear party.

THE gentleman who organized the cotton bagging trust was before a congressional committee yesterday. His testimony is mighty interesting reading.

Congress and the Message.

The New York Sun thinks it is a shame that the democratic house of representatives has not hastened to indorse and back up the president's fisheries message. Perhaps this language is a trifle strong, but it is certain that the halting and delay on the part of the democratic house is not calculated to create a favorable impression on a public that is ripe for definite action.

The trouble seems to be two-fold. In the first place, the foreign affairs committee was scattered to the four winds, and, in the second place, the house has no quorum and has had none since the 25th of July, according to reports.

This is bad-very bad. It would be bad enough at any time, but it is worse now when every democrat in the country, and especially every democrat in congress, should be alive to the necessity of strengthening the hands of the president so far as they need strengthening, and of helping the party in the campaign it is making against the corrupt organization which calls itself the republican party.

Since the Sun's editorial was written the foreign affairs committee has unanimously reported a bill granting the president the powers he asked for. But it must not be understood that this action is binding on the republicans. Retaliation is now a party issue, with the democrats and those who believe in an American policy on one side, and those who believe in the infallibility of Blaine on the other. We shall have a very different result when the matter comes before the republicans of the senate. When the treaty was up for consideration, the senate republicans announced that it was too tame-too conser vative-and on those grounds they rejected it. They wanted a definite and an aggressive American policy, and when the president, in his admirable message, met their views, he exploded a bomb in their corrupt camp that tore their position to pieces.

The situation has changed. The senate has rejected the treaty, and now that the president has made the most of the situation, they seem to be in favor of anything except retaliation. The truth is that the republican senators are either the attorneys of or stockholders in the great railroads that have connection with Canada, and the president's policy would be a tremendous draft on their resources. Viewed in this light. the opposition of the senate republicans to a policy of retaliation can be clearly understood. They stand with the great republican Bull of the Woods.

THE most effective democratic campaigner of the season is Brother Jonah Blaine. He makes the welkin ring like a fire bell in the night.

CANDIDATE HARRISON is still in hiding. He is trying to discover whether he or Blaine will be president in the impossible Willing to Do Anything. A New York contemporary says that with the coming of autumn the city is flooded with young men seeking employment. Very few insist upon going into a special occupation. As a rule they claim that they are willing to do "anything."

This is true in a measure of Atlanta, and the remarks of the New York paper apply to the situation here. When a young man is ready to do anything it means that he has no serious aim in life. He is not conscious of having any special gift, and has not made up his mind to cultivate it. He is after a salary first-his line of employment is a secondary consideration.

Briefly, all this simply amounts to saying that the youth who goes to the city to seek his fortune should find out what he is fit for, and go at it and stick to it, doing his level best all the while. There is another thing, too, that should be said-half or twothirds of the boys who leave the country every year for the city would do much better to remain at home.

THE rise and development of the trust is marvelous. By a single bound it passes from a "private affair" to a "state issue."

MURPHY, N. C., is the only city which has notified Surgeon-general Hamilton of its willingness to receive yellow fever refugees. The marine hospital service authorities have established a system of parole which will doubtless give the people of Jacksonville the desired relief.

Why does a touch of the disease in this country produce such a general scare?

According to An exchange the New York Herald charges $26,203 for its lowest priced column, and $184,000 for the highest priced advertising columns per year. Notwithstanding these figures the paper appears to be pretty well filled with "ads." It is generally patronized by business men who have grown rich and, surely, if advertising did not pay, they would not pay such prices to place their business before the people.

ATLANTA'S ANSWER

To the Plague - Stricken Floridians.

The City's Gates Have Never Been Shut Against the Afflicted-Governor Perry Waited Upon by the Committee

We have met the governor and he is ours. That is about the size of the result obtained by the committee appointed to consult Governor Perry in the interest of the citizens of Jacksonville who desired to leave that city but who were debarred by reason of the orde of Surgeon-General Hamilton.
The Constitution published the proceed ings of a meeting of Floridians held in this city on Tuesday, and mentioned the fact that a committee had been appointed to go to Talla-hassee and consult with Governor Perry. This meeting was called to protest against the refusal of the Savannah, Florida and Western to accept passenger business out of Jacksonville, but it was learned later that the ompany's action was based on an order from Surgeen-General Hamilton, who has full charge of transportation at infected points. Messrs. Hopkins, Van Buren and Walters are the members of this committee, and the following telegram sent to THE CONSTITUTION by Mr. Hopkins, gives the result of their visit to the governor: TALLAHASSEE, Fla., August 31 .- [Special.]-The committee had a conference with Governor Perry this evening, and he promises to co-operate with the committee in any or all arrangements to relieve the people of Jacksonville in their efforts to leave the stricken city. He says further, that if Governor ion and the mayor of Atlanta will assure him that they will receive the refugees that he will find way to get the people to your city. The committee vill leave here tomorrow morning, arriving in At-

This telegram was received at too late an our to get an expression of opinion from either the governor or mayor, but their answer will probably be a reference to the fact that Atlanta has not yet refused admission to a ingle refugee.

This is the answer that Governor Perry will doubtless receive to any inquiries he may make as to Atlanta's future action. Confident from the first in the healthfulness of this city, and with no fears that there would be any risk in admitting refugees to the city, our people have bid them welcome.

With this confidence increased by the experience of the past two weeks, with the city in an excellent sanitary condition and a vigi-lant and capable board of health, it is not at all probable that Atlanta will close her doors. The usual precautions will be continued in ustice to the present good health of Atlanta, ut no refugee, who is well enough to leave Florida, need feel at all embarrassed by buyng a ticket to Atlanta.

The committee are to be complimented and ongratulated upon the success of their visit to Governor Perry, and as Atlanta is hardly likely to adopt an early closing rule, the second exodus is as good as begun.

A FATAL CLOUD BURST. Hot Springs Visited by a Thrilling Calamity-Several People Killed.

Hor Springs, Ark., August 31. - [Special.]-The most thrilling calamity that ever visited this city was experienced last night about twelve o'clock.

Rain commenced falling, and for over an hour continued with great vigor. Such torrents were never before seen here. The immense olume of water that came from the mountain des swept through the streets with terrific orce, and swelled the Hot Springs creek and its branch to such a resistless tide that destrucon to life and property was unavoidable.

In the northern part of the city, the most disastrous results were felt. A cottage on Magnolia street, occupied by Walsh Flotcher, colored, and family, was swept away with its inmates. Mattie Fletcher and her two children were picked out of the drift half mile from their home, all dead.

On Fountain street, Mrs. Charlotte Harrison lost her life by being crushed by falling timbers. Several others are missing, and it is almost certain that the fatalities will be increased, as it is difficult to penetrate the street owing to the large drift. On Central avenue, the main thorougfare of the city, the damage to property is considerable. Sidewalks are litterally torn to pieces and the basements of everal large houses were flooded with damaging consequences.

The total losses will approximate $100,000. The water spout is thought to be only local and no reports of damage in the interior have yet arrived. The track of the Hot Springs railroad for some miles out was badly wrecked, but the damage has been sufficiently repaired to allow the resumption of traffic.

A Chattanooga Storm.

Washington, August 31.—At 9:45 this evening the special train, composed of two cars usually reserved for the use of officers of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway, rolled into the Pennsylvania railway station in this city, and the presidential fishing party alighted. He could not say much good of President Cleveland, but General Harrison was his comrade in arms and was a good man. There were only two things talked about in this campaign of 1888. Uppermost in the thought and speech of all is the topic of prohibition of the liquor traffic and the tariff. The republicans and democrats were discussing only one of these. An early lunch was served today at the Middle Eass clubhouse, after which General Harrison and his friends crossed to Put-in-Bay to attend the formal reception. At Put-in-Bay,

This was a memorable day to the five hundred residents of Put-in-Bay island. Early this morning the islanders began to make preparations for a reception and entertainment of their distinguished guests, General Harrison and his party. ### COTTON IN MISSISSIPPI

And Louisiana Badly Damaged by Rains, in Some Places Half Destroyed.

New Orleans, La, August 31.—A-special to the Picayune from Greenville, Miss., says: Since the 19th instant the entire delta country has been visited with daily rains and reports of incalculable damages to the cotton crop have come from various sections with such frequency as to justify the fear that the cro requency as to justify the lear that the crop was in imminent danger. In order to ascertain precisely the extent of the damage your correspondent made inquiry among the most reliable planters for facts. To summarize it may be said that the crop, as a whole, has been damaged so far at least 35 per cent, and the rain still continues. Reports from Australia, Concerdia. Terrete, Resendale, Relivar ordia, Terrene, Rosendale, I ad Landing, Heota, Sh erville, Ben Lomond, Shiloh Mound Mayerville, Ben Lomond, Shiloh and Chotard, on the Mississippi river, are about the same. The Deer Creek country along the Louisiana and Texas railroad, an pears to have suffered more than other tions. This can be attributed to the fact that the lands on Deer Creek are very low.

Captain Perrin, who manages one of the largest plantations in that locality, reports that during the last few days he and other planters investigated the state of affairs as to the condition of crop plant on twelve of the principal plantations on Deer Creek, which is considered the garden spot of cotton growing region. The cotton crop, so far, is considered to be half ruined. In many places, where water stands in the fields the places, where water stands in the fields, the lower bolls are decaying fast, and if dry weath-er does not come to relief of the planters, the loss cannot be estimated. The entire season in Lake Washington county has been one of the extremest periods of excessive rain, being preceded by excessive drouth. Then again, came floods and rains, accompanied by violent windstorms have tangled up the cotton to such an extent that the actual per cent of damage is vet difficult to arrive at. damage is yet difficult to arrive at.

The Texas Cotton Crop. GALVESTON, Texas. August 31.-The News

tomorrow will contain a statement of the cotton crop of Texas for the season of 1887-88, showing the yield for the past year to have been 1,381,523 bales. The statement is based on reports of railroads as to cotton originating on their lines in contradistinction to cotton shipped from other railroads.

Perpetrated in the Name of the National Government, The Condition of Affairs in South Carolina Commissioners and Deputy Marshals

Conspire to Get Fees. COLUMBIA, S. C., August 31.-[Special.] The attention of Senator Butler and the de-partment of justice at Washington is called to disgraceful state of affairs which exists in Edgefield and the counties, where petty officers of the federal government are prostituting their office to replenish their private purse. It appears that there is a combination between United States commissioners and deputy marshals, the object of which is TO MAKE PERS FOR THEMSELVES out of the government. Trumped-up charges of petty violations of the internal revenue laws are made against people living in remote sections of the country.

Poor and ignorant negroes, with now and then a white man of humble means and station, are the VICTIMS OF THIS OPPRESSION. Warrants and subpoenas are issued in large numbers, and negroes are taken away from their work and brought before the commis-to testify that somebody has been engaged in the business of retailing liquor with-Frequently the testimony not being given according to promise, or the expectation of the marshal, the unfortunate darky is arrested UPON A CHARGE OF PERJURY and sent to jail. These prosecutions seldom result in anything more than the confinement of these deluded witnesses in some county jail at the expense of the federal government until the next meeting of United States district! court, when they are generally acquitted for want of evidence.

Meanwhile the rascally deputy marshal and the commissioner have made and POCKETED THE USUAL FRES for issuing and serving warrants and subposnas, examination, commitment, transporting prisoners, mileage and other expenses.

In some instance, however, convictions are obtained for the most frivolous offenses. Edgefield recently a white man well known among bis neighbors as an illicit liquor dealer, accompanied a United States deputy marshal to a large negro gathering. The marshal pre-tended to be a book agent. After taking a good many orders for his books he told the negroes that it WAS NOW HIS TREAT, and if any one of them had some whisky, he would buy it, and treat the crowds. One of the negroes, knowing the white man who was with the deputy marshal and being unsuspecting, produced about a half a pint of whisky and sold it to them. For this the revenue laws he was arrested, tried, convicted and sentenced to three months imprisenment and pay to a fine of a hundred dollars. one deputy marshal of Edgefield county has a standing order of five dollars to be given any negro who will get him up a case, whether it results in conviction or not.

It is well known that this same marshal is in the converged in the convergence in th himself engaged in illicit whisky selling.

In this way.

There is an ordinance in force which says that within the city limits, trains shall not run faster than four miles an hour. He would have full scope for his peculiar powers, and could be just as famous as he is now. At any rate, it is better than making seventy-five cents washwomen cases

Jumbo Hunter has a history. Thirty-eight years have passed over his head, and a grandchild prattles at his knee.

He was a newsboy in Memphis, and subse-

OFFENDERS OF A DAY

The Developments Recorded at the Stationhouse.

A Lunatic Caged-The Arrest of a Peculiar Prisoner - He Skipped His Bond - Hauls by Policemen.

Captain Manly and Officers Christophine and Mercer brought a lunatic to the station-house yesterday morning, just before the sun loomed up in the east. His name was Pony Bowdoin, and he was in the jolliest mood im-

He has a sick brother at home, and in his spells of lunacy became very boisterous, and he had to be removed for this reason. He he had to be removed for this reason. He sings and laughs continually. His greatest ambition is to shoot a pistol, and he told the officers that if he had one he would just shoot at the ground all the time and riddle it with bullets. He challenged Officer Mercer to a clog dance, and was willing to bet any amount of money that he could beat him. Officer Christophene asked him if he had ever robbed a chicken roost, and he replied that he had not. He was asked how he would proceed in such a paster, and he replied that he would in such a matter, and he replied that he would just like to have a wooden bill and go out and peck corn with the chickens.

"That would catch him," he said triumph-

He Skipped a Bond. A peculiar-looking person was arrested night before last by Captain Couch, and the charge was for skipping a bond. The appearance of the man is very singular. He is tall, erect, broad-shouldered and well proportioned, but that is all that proclaims the man about him. that is all that proclaims the man about him. His skin is as soft as a woman's, and his complexion fair and rosy. He wears his hair long, and in many other respects closely resombles a woman. His hands are smooth and delicately formed, and his foot is very small. He is a man, but looks very much like a woman. He even talks like a woman. He said his name was George Asbell, and his home was in Biriningham, Ala. He was charged with managing a lewd house in that place, and put under bond, which he skipped and came to Atlanta. He said that he paid the man to stay on his bond, and that he intends to return to Birmingham without being forced to go.

Captain Couch telegraphed to ascertain if he was wanted, but has received no answer as The curious thing about him is this: He

The curious thing about him is this: He came to Atlanta and went to a place on Decatur street, where he stopped. That was four weeks ago. Since that time he has not put his foot outside the house, until he was arrested. He has been housed up for four weeks.

The man is bright and intellectual looking, and had sense enough to secure a lawyer at once in the person of Colonel Frank Haraison. He doesn't seem to understand why he has been arrested, and is anxious to get out.

been arrested, and is anxious to get out.

Stolen Property Recovered.

Detectives Cason and Bedford, after much hard work, succeeded in recovering several articles of stolen property yesterday.

One entire case of shoes was recovered in a box car near Bellwood, but as to who the thief is remains an uncertainty.

A cigar box full of pocket knives of various kinds was found under the platform near Butler's mill, on the Western and Atlantic railroad, just below the cotton factory.

It is thought that they were placed there by some of the young fellows upon whom a raid was made the other day just back of the First Presbyterian church.

The officers also got on the track of the parties who broke into Vittur's, cutlery establishment. Two negroes had been seen selling knives between the city and the river, and their actions were somewhat suspicious.

Later on, some one telephoned from Marietta to know if certain parties were wanted. It was found out that the two negroes seen selling knives had been arrested. They were brought to Atlanta and lodged in the stationhouse.

They gave their names as Ernest Seals and

They gave their names as Ernest Seals and Matthew Ponder, and declared their innocence.
They will be kept, however, and the case will be further looked into.
He Knocked a Girl Down.

Isaac Rucker is the name of a negro man who was arrested for knocking a negro girl down in the colored church out on Humphries

Isaac said he was a poor, persecuted darky, and that the police had arrested him for nothing. He said that a week or two ago he was over at the church serving his Master as best he could, when a young negro girl became somewhat impudent and went so far as to abstract a large first service.

"Now, you know, cap'n." said the darky.
"dat sech a thing as dat will make eny nigger fight, an' I jest up an' knocked 'er down."
"Well, Ike," said the stationhouse keeper,
"I guess I'll have to lock you up."
"All right, cap'n, but I jest tell yer I'se done nofin," and with that the darky shuffled off to his cell. He will be called upon to answer before Recorder Anderson to the charge of disorderly conduct and disturbing nublic werdisorderly conduct and disturbing public wor

They Are About to Die.

Several weeks ago a negro named Steve Randall became engaged in a quarrel with a negro girl living on Magnolia street, and knocked her in the head with a brick. He skippedout and has not been seen since.

The mother of this girl had been living with Steve, and depended upon him for a living. The whole family of darkies are now sick and about to die. A negro man came to the stationhouse yesterday, and said that the negroes in the vicinity had helped them all they could, and that they would all die if help was not given them. He didn't know what was the matter with them because no doctor had been to see them. The negro was referred to proper authorities for relief.

An Old Bible.

An Old Bible.

Officer Tony Linan is in possession a very old Bible, printed in 1794, and presenting an old and ragged appearance. It is printed in English and the style is old and peculiar.

The name of a nam named Hollingsworth is entered on the back, and after it is the year 1814. Also the name of George Perry, 1820, is found in it. Officer Linan prizes the old book very highly, and preserves it with the greatest care.

Among the "Peelers." Much interest is being manifested among the policemen in the next meeting of the police commissioners. Two vacancies are to be filled and one stationhouse keeper to be elected.

The stationhouse had a visit last night from a gentleman who said he was a colonel in the confederate army. He talked over the war with old soldiers born since the surrender, and persisted in saying that Stonewall Jackson was the greatest general the world eversaw.

Who are the candidates?
So far there are none, but many people have been suggesting suitable names, and from these suggesting suitable names, and from these suggestions some idea may be formed as to who will be finally selected.

The man who meets with the greatest favor is Mr. Jehn R. Gramling. It is pointed out that Mr. Gramling would make an excellent president of the commission. His record as a member of the last general council guarantees that as the head of the market commission he would be the right man in the right place.

Other gentlemen spoken of are Captain George B. Forbes, Mr. T. B. Brady, Dr. Jacobs, E. P. Chamberlin, T. C. Mayson, John Collier, S. A. Morris, J. M. McGuirk, and others.

The general opinion seems to be that two market houses should be built.

The people of Fulton county are to be congratulated upon the prospect of a democratic legislative primary, in which faction will play no part. The leading prohibitionists have declared that they will not put out a ticket, and the anti-prohibitionists, assured that extraneous issues would not be forced into the canvas, have formally decided to accept the olive branch. This leaves the primary of the 12th to be conducted upon the old democratic plan of fraternity and good humor.

Each Legislative Candidate to go it Alone.

What the Anti-Prohibitionists Did Las Night - An Action Which Will Commend Itself to the Democracy. It was generally rumored on the streets last night, which rumor proved to be true, that a number of prominent anti-prohibitionists met at 8 o'clock to consider the legislative race, and that they had unanimously agreed not to take any action looking toward the nomination of a wet ticket. This is just exactly what was done, and the news will be well received by the democratic voters of the county who want to see the legislative race unincumbered with outside and irrelevant issues. Said a well-known gentleman who was present at the meeting:

"I have no hesitation in stating what was done. We met simply to consult and see what was best to be done under the circumstances. It was unanimously agreed that we would take no action as long as the prohibition issue was not forced upon us. We have always opposed such interference with the democratic organization and most of our triumphs in the past have been due, as much as to anything else, to the fact that the democrats of the county would not tolerate any factional effort to divide the party on outside issues. The prohibitionists have heretofore sprung tickets, based wholly on that issue, and they have been invariably defeated. Of course, had we put out a ticket, we would have laid ourselves liable to the same attack which has always been made. Sentiment was undivided as to the proper course, and the meeting adjourned without doing a thing, other than agree to let every man stand on his own bottom. "Suppose another ticket is put out?" "Oh, well, that would probably alter matters. As long as the issue is not forced by others, we will certainly stand by our action.

Our duty is first to the democratic party."
"Does the action satisfy the candidates?" "Every one of them. None of them wanted any action taken, each preferring to go to the people on his individuals merits."
"How many candidates did the meeting understand to be out?" "Four-Messrs. W. H. Venable, Harry Jackson, Jim O'Neill and Clark Howell." "Who will be elected?"

"Will tell you on the night of the 12th of September. Good night." Y. M. C. A. Notes. Men's meeting tonight at 8 o'clock; good singing; come in. Don't spend the time around streets corners when such opportunities, offered free,

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

For quick raising, the Royal Baking Powder is superior to all other leavening agents. It is absolutely pure and wholesome and of the highest leavening power. It is always uniform in strength and quality and never fails to make light, sweet, most palatable and nutritive food. Bread, biscuits, muffins, cake, etc., raised with Royal Baking Powder may be eaten hot without distressing results to the most delicate digestive organs. It will keep in any climate without deterioration.

Prof. H. A. Mott, U. S. Government Chemist, after examining officially the principal baking powders of the country, reported:

"The Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure, for I have so found it in mary tests made both for that company and the United States Government.

"Because of the facilities that company have for obtaining perfectly pure cream of tartar, and for other reasons dependent upon the proper proportions of the same, and the method of its preparation, the Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public.

Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock

NEW YORK, August 31.—The stock market today was the most uninteresting for a whole day's session that has been seen for a long time. Transactions were small and at actuations with the narrowest ring possible, except in a few of the specialties, which were subject to special influences. The improved feeling in Northern Pacific made those stocks the leaders of today. Coal stocks were very much less prominent than they have been of late but St. Paul, Western Union and Union Pacific were more active, though presenting the same lack of fea-ture as the general list. The feature of the day, ture as the general list. The feature of the day, however, was the strength in the Big Four, which has been entirely parlested as the Big Four, which has been entirely neglected of late, but today, on good inside buying, advanced over a point, with very light transactions. The market closed dull and steady, leaving final changes generally for fractional amounts only. Declines are in the majority, but the Big Four rose 1½ and Peoria, Decatur and Evansville 1 per cent, and Chicago, Burlington and Quincy lost 1 per cent. Sales aggregated 161,000

NEW YORK, August 31—Hubbard, Price & Co., in their circular today, say: Cables from Liverpool this morning gave an advance of two points for that market, and partly on the strength of this and partly from a feeling of relief occasioned by the disappearance of that old ougbear, the August corner, prices here opened about five points higher. The better feeling was evidenced by the largely increased volume of business, and the good demand for spot cotton is very encouraging. The movement still conton is very encouraging. The movement still con-tinues small, and the quality of receipts does not appear to improve, and it is probable that the plan-ter bagging trust war will contribute largely to deon in the interior. THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions. CHICAGO, August 31—Wheat kept the crowd guessing today, or rather one half trade kept the other half chasing after them. There was a decided change in the information from the northwest, or from abroad. The cable gave British markets as easier on the whole, while closing cables repre-sented English country markets as dearer and weather none too favorable, and a great quantity of long wheat was on the market here. Early dis patches from the northwest saying that wheat is out of danger were upset by letters from experts now in Devil's Lake county, saying that the worst feature of frost damage had not been exaggerated The bear feeling was quite strong early, but wh any short interest was created and a few buying orders came in there was a sudden change, showing that shorts went less safely than the longs. In this market Hutchinson sold most of the session. Even with his filling up of the crowd there was no serious break. A le gap remained between September and December. September sold at 91c, down to 92%c, up to 93c, or better, then off to 92%c, bottom for the day, and then bnlged 1c to 93%c. December sold at 92%c, down to 91c, and after going to 91%c, again went to 92%c, but weakened toward the clos ter all efforts to break wheat the range was about 14c@% under last night, and %c over bottom price of the day. There was a range of about 1c in corn, with a close fractionally lower than yesterday. September started 3/20 higher, at 463/20, and sold at 453/20, from which it broke to 443/40, and rallied to 450 at close. The strength early was attributed to frost in the northwest, and was helped by shipping demand. Hutchinson became seller later and prices went down quite sharply. Oats were active, and those who controlled prices for the month made it interesting for the shorts. August sold on a squeeze up to 27c, and price dropped to 25\(\frac{1}{2}\)c. Belated shorts, however, again put price to 24½c at the close. All futures were a trifle higher. There were no special features to the provision market.

THE GOUGING TRUSTS.

Colonel Hardeman Says the Farmers Will Win.

If Not This Year They Will Eventually Down the Robbers - The Reagan Will do the Business.

Colonel Robert Hardeman was taking things coolly in his office yesterday aft ernoon somebody suddenly said something about jute bagging and the southern farmers. The speaker intimated rather strongly that jute bagging was about the best thing that the tarmers of the south could use.

"The mischief you say," remarked the colonel as he warmed up in a minute, "that's all tomfoolery. There is something just as good, or better, too, than jute bagging, which our farmers can use. It is Dundee cloth. It our tarmers can use. The branches can use is strong enough for the purpose and makes a better appearance than jute bagging any day in the week. The handsomest bales of cotton I ever laid my eyes on were done up in Dundee Why, man, the south is the only section of the globe that I know of where the farmers bale their cotton with jute bag-

g. Every bale of cotton that made in India is bound up in Dundee cloth, and experience over there has demonstrated the fact that something else besides your jute bagging will do to tie up cotton in. Now, there may be a Dundee trust for all I know, but if there is not one I see no reason why this stuff cannot be used by the south as well as India. It is certainly cheaper that are at the present figure and just as

One thing is certain. As things now stand, this infernal bagging trust will have to back down if the farmers stand their ground. This jute bagging, I tell you, is used only at the south. Now suppose the farmers make up their minds to quit using it, what would be-"It would go under.

"There is no law which compels the southern farmer to pay a premium to a bagging trust every time he packs a bale of cotton. It would not hurt to let our farmers try the virtue of Dundee cloth. If the markets of the world necent India cotton in Dundee cloth why won't they accept southern cotton in Dundee cloth?"

"It would be better to use Dundee than to hold back their cotton, wouldn't it?" "Well, I should say so. The farmers can't hold back their cotton. Why, if they did it would bankrupt the state. It would ruin the business of the country. The farmers are abligated to the merchants, the merchants are obligated to the factors, the factors are obligated to the banks, and so on. Stop the cotton crop and you would paralyze the business of the world. Take Georgia, for instance. If the farmers should hold back their cotton, where would they get the money to pay their taxes to the state?

'No, sirree; that idea will never do." "But let me tell you," said Colonel Harde-man, lowering his strong rich voice and speaking with singular impressiveness, "let me tell you, young man, there is a way for the farmers of Georgia and the south to whip this out-rageous trust and they will do it in the end. It may not be this year—but they will do it. The farmers have been ground down for years -but they are full of manhood and horse sense and they will one day crush this trust and come out on top. That bill that old Reagan, of Texas, introduced is a good one. You just watch the old man work it. I say unto you that something is going to be split wide open and that bill is the entering wedge. Markit."

THE BANANA.

Something About the Carloads That Come Here to Atlanta. "Bananas are fast becoming a staple in this country. Ten years ago a carload a month was more than the trade demanded in Atlanta. Now, there are nearly ten times as many, and the banana is fast becoming as prominent a staple as any native product, like apples and proches?"

The speaker was Mr. J. J. Falvey. He handles more than nine-tenths of the bananas that come to Atlanta, and is, therefore, quite an authority on the banana question.

"What is the banana season?"
"All the year round. There are two seasons when more come than during the other months-from the first of March to the first of June, and from the first of September to he first of January. Then-"

'Look a here," demanded a countryman at the door. "Is the hands of the trust or

"I guess they are, but they are mighty-'That's what I thought. I don't want none

And he staggered on across the bridge 'What sort of territory has Atlanta in that "Nearly all of Georgia and portions of Alabama, North and South Carolina and up into Tennessee. We ship to Augusta, Macon, Knoxville and Chattanooga, and very nearly all the trade comes within that radius."

"Where does the supply come from?"
"Central America. They go in boats to New Orleans and by railroad from there here.
It takes only about thirty hours to get here now from New Orleans. They are shipped green and mature on the way. Seventy-three per cent of the composition of a banana is water."

"How many bunches do you call a carload?" "Six hundred, and the bunches will average about 120 bananas. Say there are 6,000 bunches used here a month, 72,000 bunches a year, er 8,640,900 bananas a year.'

"When you sell a bunch how do you calculate the number of bananas en it?"

'By the 'hands.' Notice that on the main trunk there are clusters, the stems of the bananas spreading out like the fingers on the hand. Now, in each 'hand' or cluster there are invariably fifteen bananas. It is easy enough to count the 'hands.' On this bunch here, for example, there are eight hands or 120 bananas. Did you ever see a room where bananas are kept?"

The reporter never had and Mr. Falvey led the way to the basement.

On the floor, over a thin layer of straw, th bunches were lying in green, ripe and half ripe

"These will all be taken out today and tomorrow. When they are to be kept in cool weather for any length of time they go in one of the charcoal rooms."

It is an ordinary room, with three or four gas jets, and theselfurnish all the heat tha is needed. The walls are double, two walls about four inches apart. Between the walls is powdered charcoal, compactly pressed by means of heavy weights. Charcoal is one of the best non-conductors of heat, "and "it can easily be understood how the gas jets furnish all the heat

The temperature of the room is kept at 100

"So you see," said Mr. Falvey, "you must know how to handle bananas. There is a sort of science about it, and practice is of course "Are there many varieties of the fruit?" "As many as there of apples and peaches just as many. The best we get here are the Bluefield, and the Pacadel de Tora, large and sweet flavored. The Honduras are smaller, and not so sweet flavored.' "What about the trust?"

"Well," laughed Mr. Falvey, "there is nothing to say except that there really seems to be a trust."
The Italians don't care, though. They don't

What about the banana trust ?" one of them on South Pryor street was asked yesterday.

"De what? "The trust. Don't you know what a trust

"No." "Don't you pay more for bananas now than you did this time last year?" "Yees," grunted the Italian, becoming in-

"Isn't that money out of your pocket? Don't you lose money by it?" "No, no," he grinned. "Fellow ee eat ee "Look a here," interrupted a countryman at the door, "is the hands of the trust on these here bananas?" "Yees, trust, yees," nodded the Italian, "Well, I'll swear. Trusts on cotton bagging, trusts on dishpans, trusts — "

He shoved his hands down deep in his pants pockets and staggered off in disgust.

As he turned up Alabama towards Whitehall he stopped at a saloon, gazed at the sign a few minutes, walked to the door and looked He was staring at a placard over the counter

The inscription pleased him. It read: "NO TRUST." This morning a farmer in gray jeans, his pants tucked in his boots, wearing a blue striped hickory shirt and slouched hat, will pay his $5.75 to Judge Anderson and go home ondering how he ever got to the stationhouse

CROPS IN GEORGIA.

Judge John T. Henderson Gives Some Interesting Points.

Judge John T. Henderson, commissioner of griculture, is full of interesting information about the crops. "The cotton crop," said he, yesterday, "in Georgia last year ran up to 860,000 bales—and in my judgment it will not only not fall short of that number this year, but will go beyond

"How about corn, judge?"
"Well, the corn crop in Georgia, generally considered, is exceptionally good this year. It is fully as large as last season; yes, and larger, too. The oat crop in the state, generally speaking, is a failure, I think."

"Why?" "It is impossible to tell all the causes which have conspired to make the oat crop a failure, but the freezes last winter had a good deal to do with it—their effect was to destroy the stand. The rust, too, during the spring, injured oats in Georgia terribly. In some sections of the state, of course, the yield will be

"How did the oat crop pan out last year?"
"Badly. The crop footed up about 5,000,000 bushels. It will be about the same this year, I think."

"The wheat crop?" "Wheat is getting to be a very insignificant crop in this state. The yield last year went about 83,500,000, and I much doubt whether it will reach that figure this season. "To what cause is this falling off to be

"It is very hard to say. Climatic and vari ous other influences combine to prevent a large

"The year 1882," continued Judge Henderson, "was one of the most fruitful years that Georgia has ever known. It gave us the largest cotton crop in the history of the state, the number of bales being about 940,000. From that year to the present the cotton crop has not fallen below 800,000 bales. We had the largest corn crop then-about 33,000,000 bushels -and the largest oat crop, 11,500,000 bushels having been gathered. The wheat crop footed up 5,000,000. The year 1882 was a good year for nearly every crop that was put in the ground

Birmingham Modifies That Quarantine Order.

A Rumor That the Georgia Pacific Headquarters Will be Removed to Atlanta on Account of Hasty Action.

Birmingham has taken time to think it over and has evidently concluded that it would amount to complete isolation if they should quarantine against Atlanta.

It is more than likely that they came to this conclusion after reading The Constitution of yesterday, for the information given them in that issue was of a varied and edifying charac-

From private telegrams received in Atlanta yesterday it appears that a meeting of the board of health was called as soon as THE Constitution appeared upon the streets, and the chairman of the board of health read the facts concerning the situation in Atlanta from a marked copy of this paper.

It created a genuine sensation, as it had been considered by the Birmingham board that Atlanta was in just the proper shape to send yellow fever patients to the four points of the compass, of which Birmingham claims to be one. There was but little discussion of the matter, and when one of the members of the board of health moved to rescind the order of Thursday and open Birmingham up to connection with the outside world, via Atlanta, it was carried without a nay.

The next question with the Birmingham officials was how to let themselves down as gently as possible and yet retain the good will of the Atlanta people, upon whom they had cast the imputation of being unhealthy in a yellow fever degree. It was decided, after considerable discussion, that the best way to accomplish this result was to have the Birmingham mayor wire his apology to Mayor Cooper, and this is the language he used:

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., August 31.—Hon. J. T. Cooper, Mayor—Birmingham has quarantined against At-lanta, but it does not prohibit persons coming from your city from entering here who hold certificates from your health officers that they have not been in fected districts within the last twenty days, your city not being deemed an infected district. Please make this public. A. O. LANE, Mayor of Birmingham.

Mayor Cooper, the board of health, our Florida visitors, and forgiving Atlantians in general, will probably accept the Birming ham mayor's explanation, and if the stern de mands of business make it necessary to visit that city, they will endeavor to forgive and make their stay as brief as possible.

Their Loss Our Gain.

The action of the Birmingham board of health, if it had not been modified, would have seriously embarrassed the Georgia Pacific railroad. It would not only have added greatly to their expense account, but would have had the effect of diverting travel to other lines, not direct or well equipped. And the Georgia Pacific people are thinking of this matter rather strongly, and if the present ru-mors are reliable, Birmingham will be sorry that she was so hasty.

The rumor referred to is nothing more nor less than that the Georgia Pacific managers contemplate the removal of the headquarters of their road back to Atlanta. That they would be better off here, from a business and social point of view, the present situation fully

Here in Atlanta they would have every advantage of direct communication with the principal railroad lines of the south, and the advantages that this change would afford them are too numerous to be even outlined in a sin gle newspaper article.

What would be Birmingham's loss would be Atlanta's gain, but as it is strictly a business ion sentiment has nothing to do with it, and THE CONSTITUTION is disposed to add an invitation to the Georgia Pacific officials to remove. This is not intended as a disparagement of Birmingham, but the fact cannot be overlooked that Atlanta, with no restrictions on trade or commerce, with markets open to the world, and with a warm welcome for refugees and railroads is the proper location for the Georgia Pacific's headquarters.
In fact, The Constitution makes no dis tinction of roads when it comes to a matter like this, but invites them all. If you are nervous or dyspeptic try Carters Little Nerve pills. Dyspepsia makes you nervous, and nervousness makes you dyspeptie either one renders you miserable, and these little pills cure both.

"BRUFFEY."

A Dog That Knows a Suspicious Character as Well as a Policeman Does, The most intelligent dog in Atlanta is the little black dog "Bruffey" at police head-

The most intelligent dog in Atlanta is the little black dog "Bruffey" at police headquarters.

He is a genius in his line. He knows all about the stationhouse. He knows nearly every negro that comes there, and learns new faces with remarkable facility. When the black list law was in force Bruffey caught on in great shape. He would stand by the steps to Black Maria as the door was opened and watch for the prisoners.

If Bruffey wagged his tail the man was a "goner." He had been there at least twice before, and that tale was infallible. Bruffey never made a mistake.

When the wagon starts in or out of the alley Bruffey runs ahead and clears the passage. He allows no one to pass in front of the horses, and there is no doubt in the world that Bruffey has done a good work. Some child may have been stamped down by the horses, kicked or bitten, but for Bruffey's snap and bark.

When the weather is good you will generally find somebody playing checkers in the alley, and others seated around watching the game. Bruffey goes ahead of the wagon, and if a chair is too near the track, he barks until that chair is moved. If you won't listen to his bark, he bites. The wagon must get by there and your chair must be moved. Nobody knows that better than Bruffey.

Two or three cats are really needed at the stationhouse, and just that many does Bruffey tolerate—no more. A strange cat never comes there but once.

He has learned to be suspicious of strangers. He knows every policeman on the force, and every reporter that goes to police headquarters, and likes for them to pet him, but woe to the stranger that pats his head. A woman could not be more delicately discriminating in such metters. uch matters.

such matters.

Frequently a drunken prisoner has a scuffle, shows fight, rather than be locked up, and that's when Bruffey is worth two policemen. He snaps at one heel and then at the other until the man goes to his cell in self defense. It don't take two minutes usually and it would have taken six policemen at least ten minutes.

Frequently, too, a crowd follows a prisoner into the stationhouse, and Bruffey knows the rule about that as well as Jumbo Hunter. It can't be allowed and Bruffey is in torment until the last stranger is gone. It is wonderful boy one der appears a pean, whis can until the last stranger is gone. It is wonderful how one dog among so many shins can cause so much uneasiness. Maybe it's practice. Bruffey has been there a long time.

But Bruff's hobby is the fire alarm. He knows it the instant he hears it, and rushes out frantically to the corner of Alabama and Pryor to see the engineshass. He fairly goes wild, and dotes above all things on Cap's red wagon.

If the engine don't come that way he sneaks back, and sulks over it like a spoiled child. When the single strike is sounded for "fire out" he pays no attention whatever. The engines didn't go out that way, so they can't come back that way. Bruffey understands that.

If the engines have passed by, though, he waits impatiently for the signal, and when it is given he trots quietly to the corner and waits for Cap Joyner and the engines.

He may wait for several minutes, but he never deserts his post till the red wagon comes. He saw it go out that way and he knows well enough it is coming back there. Bruff isn't a fool.
